Dear Dr. Jeruta:

Greetings of peace and love!

The Carolinian Physics Society (PhySoc) is a student organization of the Department of Physics of the University of San Carlos in Cebu, Philippines which aims to raise the students' and the general public's awareness and literacy in science, most particularly in Physics, and to have the students participate at the frontiers of scientific discovery.

The Carolinian Physics Society and the Department of Physics will be celebrating the annual Physics Day 2020 with the theme: "2020 Vision: Beyond the Standard Model, Diversity in the Academe, and Innovation in the Climate Crisis" on March 24, 2020. The event consists of activities that aim to promote passion and appreciation for Physics among high school students especially the Senior High School students in the STEM track and to instill the importance of the aforementioned in the development of our country. Attached herewith is the program of activities.

We would like to ask from your good office an endorsement allowing us to invite different high schools from the region into our big event. These high schools are:

Our goal for our event is to invite 10 schools from all over Cebu. Your endorsement will be an important key in realizing this goal. We humbly ask that information about our event will be disseminated to all schools under your jurisdiction that would like to join aside from the schools listed here. If you have any questions, please contact us through James David Tuñacao (+63 923 552 4310) or email us through uscphysoc2017@gmail.com.

The universe is not only out there, it is in us, so what better way for its wonders to be cherished than to celebrate them. We are counting on your support in this endeavor. Thank you and God bless!

In Christ,
